

Rachel Thienprayoon, MD, MSCS is an Associate Professor of Anesthesia (Palliative Care) at Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center (CCHMC). She completed her residency in general pediatrics at UT Southwestern in Dallas, Texas in 2010, fellowship in pediatric hematology-oncology at UT Southwestern in 2013, and fellowship in hospice and palliative medicine at CCHMC in 2014. She was a Quality Scholar in the James M. Anderson Center for Health Systems Excellence from 2014-2016. She is a founding member of the Pediatric Palliative Improvement Network and founded and leads the national Quality Improvement in Pediatric Palliative Care Workshop. She is a member of the board of directors of the Palliative Care Quality Collaborative. Her research focuses on defining and benchmarking quality in pediatric hospice and home-based palliative care. She also has a strong interest in organizational compassion and patient experiences of compassion. Rachel lives in Cincinnati, OH with her husband and two young daughters.